Hi there,

We posted a question on a Wellington Water post on Facebook and have not had any response so thought we would ask the question directly and get an email reply.

Pic at the end of the Q&A on Facebook..

Our Question.

Can Wellington Water confirm that it is saying is that the water loss on the public network has dropped from 34% to 32% overall and separately the water loss on the private property side has gone from 10% to 9% overall? Making it the totals of 44% to 41% when added together?

Also, could you point us to where this info can be viewed as we have not been able to find this info?

Would really appreciate an answer to this.

Thanks.
